

Speech and Language Link Resources for Parents

<https://speechandlanguage.info/parent> - a parent support site for children with speech and language difficulties.

As a school, we use Speech and Language Link as a key intervention for identified pupils.

This site for parents includes speech activities to help your child to hear the difference between speech sounds (sound discrimination) and to identify sounds at the beginning and ends of words (phonics). These skills are important for both talking and reading.

Language activities will help develop your child's ability to follow instructions, understand talking and learn new words more easily.
